FROM THEIR ROYAL MAJESTIES

Outlanders ~ Attend and pray heed the words of Your Dread Liege and his Lady

As the cold winds of winter scream through the mountain passes of Our fair Kingdom so they bear upon their back the call of WAR! But what have We to fear from the western wind? The Green will not turn nor the Gold of this land tarnish while we stand united as a Kingdom with Our valiant Heirs at Our side and Our powerful Baronies riding to join Us. Our War council has labored long and with dedicated service to prepare Us and Our Heirs with the most steadfast of counsel and We are well advised as to how to prepare for the battles of Estrella.

We charge Our warriors to make ready for war but do not forgo the joys and grace of the winter revelries ~ We request that Our people support the endeavors of Our fighters be they of sword, rapier or bow but do not forgo the passion of the creative arts for Outlandish artisans have won wars before ~ We know that all those that serve this mighty Kingdom do so with a fierceness of heart that cares not if we are at war or at rest, only that we are stronger because of their gifts of time and effort. Huzzah to the proud people of the Outlands for united they are a force to be reckoned with and all should tremble before the pounding of Our war drums.

We have found the best of Our noble warriors to be Our Heir with their consort at their side. There stands a powerful Warlord at their back. We have found the brightest of Our precious bards to be Our Windhover Bard. We have acknowledged the strength and beauty of many of Our people and We now seek the jewel of Our valuable artisans to be Our Arts and Sciences Champion in the Shire of Duthaich Beinne Aird. Soon We shall be ready to face Our friends and foes across the Treaty table knowing that Our Kingdom stands ready for the winter and prepared for war.

The Stag is strong and his rack is full as the felt falls from his horns
His weapons are apparent ~ sharp and deadly ~ look to the Stag strong of leg
He stands ready to defend his lands, his tribe at his back, his doe by his side.
If it is to be WAR ~ the Outlands will not falter, will not fail,
Together under the Stag, We stand united for all to see.

Your loyal and most grateful Crown

From the Waiver Secretary

Salvete!
I am please to report that my office, is at least, seeing some action. Almost all of the waivers for the past year are accounted for. My thanks to all of the seneschals and outocrats that have helpsed. I want to make special metion of the seneschals of al-Barrna and Unser Hafen. Both inherited large files of waivers that they separated and sent on to me. Thank you - you really helped me out!
BUT - I find I am still having to send out 30 day reminders noticies to almost all groups hosting events. The one exception has been the Shire of Caer Galen. Please, please, try to get in the habit of sending out the waivers withing 10days after the event. It will make both our jobs a little easier!

"Down the broad road do I run,
As the way of youth is;
Snare myself in sin, and ne'er
Think where faith and truth is;
Eager far for pleasure more
Than soul's health, the sooth is,
For this flesh of mine I care,
Seek not ruth where ruth is."

- 'The Confessions of Golias'
Written by the Archpoet (c. 1130 - 1165)

There will be the Defender of Saint Golias tourney (heavy weapon) and the Blade of Golias tourney (light weapon). For both fighters and non-fighters there will be games throughout the day. There will be several rooms available for classes or A&S displays. Following the activities of the day, we will retire to the convention center of the Holiday Inn Express (where the Queen's Prize Tourney was held this year) for Court, followed by a feast that will be prepared by Mistress Richenza le Wydu and Mistress Monika von Zell.

Rumor has it that Torcailmada, Vicar General of the Scottish Inquistion and the Once And Future Abbot of the Moth Eaten Order of Saint Golias will be inebriating new Brothers of the Moth Eaten Order sometime during the festivities of the evening.

Please see the event announcement in the November OH for more information on the feast, games, and fees.

So break out of your normal style and try something new. All you early period fold get lacy and go late period; late period time to be early. Or if you prefer dress as one of the members of the populace - remember imitation is the greatest form of flattery.

From the Kingdom Minister of Children

Greetings to the Outlands! This is the first announcement from the Kingdom Minister of Children! Wow!

As Kingdom MoC I will act as a central point of contact and a resource for Local Ministers of Children, event coordinators and autocrats as they plan children's activities. For this month, however, I would like to talk a little about the duties of local Ministers of Children (MoC)

What are the duties of MoC?
First and foremost the MoC is not a baby sitter!
Act as a central point of contact for parents (both mundane and SCA) who may have questions about children and youth participation at SCA events.
Be the advocate of children and youth participation at SCA events.
Educate the populace that when children have a place to go at events that they are less likely to be a problem or to cause problems (one has only to see the successful Children's activities at Outlandish and Estrella War to see just how well this works!)

I am currently working on creating office guidelines as well as boffering guidelines. More on these in the months to come!

I would like to have all current MoC e-mail me as soon as you can. My dear husband has set up a MoC list that will be used for children and youth issues—the only way you can get on it is if I know your email address!.

Following is an announcement that I had posted to the Outlands list concerning a boffer tournament to be held at Estrella: The call to war is ringing in the air. War Registration is open.

I received email today from the Youth coordinator of Estrella War offering the Outlands the opportunity to sponsor a youth boffer tourney at Estrella war. I am hoping that the generous populace of our Kingdom will assist me in establishing the FIRST annual Outlands Boffer tournament! (We will be joining Caid and Atenveldt, who have sponsored tourneys at Estrella now for several years). I would like to run 3 age categories (i.e., 3 separate tournaments): 6 and under, 7-11, 12-15

In order to make this happen, I need your help! I am looking for the following assistance for each age category:
1. List prize donations for the participants (it doesn't have to be big, just something 'cool' and interesting to kids!)
2. Two, to four marshals who will need to reserve 4 hours or so of their time
3. Someone to run each list (we are going to try to run the lists concurrently)
4. Water bearers (older youth are welcome to volunteer for this!)
5. Scrolls for the winner, most chivalrous, and best heraldic display.(a scroll for the best death would be nice as well :-)

Here is a chance for The Outlands to show the known world of our dedication to the Youth at war! Thank you!

Lady Rhiannon (Rhiannon1@zianet.com) (505) 649-3550
Kingdom Minister of Children

From the Office of the Chronicler

Great and Mighty Populace of the Kingdom of the Outlands.
Well, life has come to a full circle and today I write my last letter. I will be stepping down from this office at Kingdom A&S. Please give Don Maximillian all of your kind support and generous help in the future.

I would like to give thank yous to those gentles who have stood behind me theses past years. Thank You, Mistress Catriona nicAiodh. Thank you, Baron Duncan MacAllister. Thank you, Mistress Bennet. Thank you, THLord Roland. Thank you, Honor of Resotmel. Thank you to all the Local Chroniclers. Thank you to the Populace of these GREAT Outlands! Finally, thank you most of all, to my lord Stephan (may he never have to carry boxes of O.H.'s from the wagon to the castle and back again...)

As I say farewell, the Aesops Fables will be going with me. If you remember - the one here is a rerun from the beginning of my term - yet it still hold true...

People often do not know their own strengths and weaknesses.

Thank you for the memories and allowing me to roar in my strengths and to acknowledge my weaknesses.

In Service to Kingdom and to Crown,
Baroness Christina McCarty

The Deer [Stag] & His Antlers

A deer [stag] came to drink at a spring and saw his reflection in the water. He admired his beautiful wide antlers, but he thought his legs looked skinny and weak. Just then some hunters approached, and he dashed away. His swift legs, which he thought were ugly, saved his life - until his beautiful wide antlers got caught in some branches and he was captured.

Moral: People often don't know their own strengths and weaknesses. AESOP

From the Seneschal's Office

Unto the Populace of the Outlands does Master Adam Stedefast send greetings,

One of my goals as kingdom seneschal is to attend at least one event in every local group. As my pilgrimage progresses, I have thoroughly enjoyed meeting members of the populace from all over this great kingdom. Thank you very much for the great Outlands hospitality you have shown me. As I travel, I have been learning about how the different local groups recruit and welcome newcomers. To aid in this, I point out that every office has a "newcomer application." That is, each officer has in his or her bailiwick the means to attract and educate newcomers. I encourage all of you to find ways to do this. While recruitment is an ongoing activity, certain signs exist that show us that we really need to increase membership: If the same people are doing the same activities; If the same people are just trading offices every two years; If volunteers want to step down from an office but do not feel there is anyone to take over – then it is well past time to host demos and other newcomer activities.

Speaking of volunteers and activities, we have two major opportunities before us: The Known World Toys for Tots Challenge and Estrella War. I ask all those who come by these words to find a way to contribute to each of these Outlandish endeavors. The Outlands Toys for Tots effort needs each one of us to not only bring a toy to one of the groups hosting such activities, but to find new ways to bring in groups of toys. Our participation at Estrella War requires a Total War Effort. Each of us can find a way to volunteer at the war, or help our local groups and kingdom prepare. Many opportunities will avail themselves. Please make your presence known.

Finally, a word on administration. At the Board of Directors' Meeting held in July, the BoD decided that, effective January 1, 2003, a $3.00 surcharge will be added to the site fees of all non-members. Please add this additional charge to your event announcements. The next Board of Directors' meeting will be here in the Outlands in Caerthe, Saturday, October 19, 2002, 9 a.m. at the Embassy Suites Hotel located near I-70 and Havana. Appropriate attire is modern, but a society after-revel usually follows the meeting. To all who wish to attend, I will see you there.

In Service,
Adam Stedefast

From the Ministry of Arts and Sciences

Greetings unto the Populace - Just a few reminders - as you read this, the Outlands Kingdom Arts and Sciences Competition will be just under three weeks away. Preregistration by October 5 IS required, for both competition entries and displays. I will need Legal name, SCA Name, Local Group, Category and Title of Entry or Display, and approximately how much space you will need.

I am still urgently in need of judges, so please contact me via email, phone, etc. if you are willing to judge and in what categories you feel most comfortable with. The new competition judging forms will have hopefully already had their test run at Dragonsspine's A&S Competition last month. They should also be on line by now as well as the competition guidelines and judging criteria.

If anyone out there needs help with any aspect of their entry or display, please do not hesitate to contact me. I encourage everyone to attend Kingdom A&S - even if you are not entering and/or displaying - it is an excellent opportunity to observe and be awed and inspired by the many wonderful artisans of our fair Kingdom. I look forward to seeing all of you there.

Until next month, I remain - Toujours a vos ordres, Margaret

Medieval Merriment with Sir Guillaume
"The Squire's School of Hard Knocks"

Every knight has a different approach to teaching squires. The first young squire-hopeful who approached me was very timid. He followed me around practice like a lost puppy for several hours, carefully avoiding eye contact, until I finally asked if there was something he wanted.

"Well, I don't mean to bother you," he said, "I know how busy you are, but I really admire ... And I couldn't help but notice ... Sometimes, when you're fighting, you just ... If it wouldn't be too much trouble ..."

"Are you asking to be my squire?" I said.

"Yes! No! I'm sorry! Did I say that? Please, hit me in the head!"

Of course, finding the courage to ask for that red belt is just the beginning. After that, the knight is obliged to pass along knowledge of the gentle art of SCA combat, and, in return, the squire is obligated to assist the knight with any number of small tasks, such as landscaping, auto repair, and home improvement. Sometimes, the squire even finds time to put on armor and fight.

Adventures In Squiredom

Unfortunately, the white belt doesn't come with a manual on the care and feeding of squires. When I took on my first squire, I immediately began teaching him how to fight, thinking that was all I had to do. After five minutes of instruction I discovered I had successfully trained him how to bounce a sword off the pell and hit himself in the mouth. Fortunately, a minimal amount of dental surgery was required.

From the Earl Marshal

Unto the fighters of the Outlands, Greetings!

Only a short missive this time, as now is the time to listen to your local commanders, and hone your swords.

Last month I asked that you review the rules under which we fight. Please continue to do so, but pay close attention to this rule:

II.2 ...In order to be authorized, a fighter must present a valid "blue" membership card which proves that a properly executed waiver is on file with the Office of the Registry of the SCA, Inc.

If you're not a member, you can't fight. Don't try to bully or bluff your way past the Lists Officer running whatever tourney you want in. If this becomes paternistic, you will lose your authorization. Spend the $35 and get a membership, it's a cheap price to pay to be able to fight for a year, and you get a couple of publications out of the deal.

Thanks, and be safe!
Cathyn

I soon realized there was more to this squire business than just teaching someone to swing a stick. My second squire was very inexperienced, and instead of fighting, he asked me to help him make a suit of armor.

I am not exactly a master-class armorer, but I wasn't about to let a lack of skill and knowledge slow me down. "A few rivets, a little duct tape ... How hard could it be?" I thought. After talking to some fellow fighters, I decided the best choice would be a suit of brigantine armor with large plastic plates - custom molded to fit - protecting the squire's torso.

We heated an oven to about 400 degrees and set the plastic plates in to soften. After a few minutes we removed the plates and laid them on his chest to mold them into shape. Unfortunately, my fellow fighters had neglected to tell me that, when molding hot plastic, it is best to protect the wearer from what is, essentially, a 400-degree slab of molten glue. The conversation went something like this:

"Hey, Guillaume. This plastic is kinda hot."

"Okay, just a second."

"Um, I mean, it's really hot!"

"All right, we can ... Wait. It's stuck to your shirt."

""aaa! I'm on fire! Water!"

And so on. We actually repeated this procedure four times before he quit the SCA entirely.

An Old Dog

Each of my squires has (I hope) benefited from my advice. Many have gone on to become accomplished fighters and valuable members of the Society. But with every lesson I give them, I'm learning too. When I teach them how to fight, I'm increasing my skill as well. When I counsel them in chivalry and courtesy, I'm reaffirming those ideals for myself, too.

Sometimes I just re-learn the things I already know. Sometimes I must venture outside my zone of expertise and learn something new. Sometimes I even learn what I don't want to do through their mistakes.

And sometimes, when I least expect it, one of them comes up while I'm not looking and hands me something I'm not prepared for - a moment of kindness, a word of sincerity or an act of humility - and those are the most valuable lessons of all.

With the help of my squires, maybe I'll never forget that, in teaching, one also becomes a student, and in life, one can be "master" and "learner" at the same time. I'd offer more wise, philosophical words if I had the time, but I can't. I have to go and extinguish my squire now.

About the author: Guillaume's column "I Didn't Expect An Inquisition" has appeared in "The Crown Prints" - the newsletter of the Kingdom of Caid - for more than ten years, and was awarded a Lux Caidis for literary excellence in 1998. He has also written for many of the baronial newsletters throughout Caid, and his work currently appears on-line at www.KnownWorldWeb.com . Autocrats, please take notice of the article size constraints, and try to stay within them. All event articles are allowed three (3) showings in the Outlandish Herald, one (1) of which MUST be the month of the event (i.e. A March event MUST run in the March OH). The other two publication months are typically the two months preceding the event. An autocrat may request publication more than two months in advance, but that publication will count against the two (2) publication limit. Additional printings may be purchased at the current advertising rates. Kingdom Events (Crown, Coronation, A&S Competition/Collegium, and others as designated by the Crown) receive one (1) page in the publications prior to the event, and two (2) pages the month of the event. Additional space may be purchased for any publication month at the current advertising rates. Current advertising rates are listed in the front of the Outlandish Herald. Where possible, please provide the Kingdom Chronicler's office with a prior month article, and a month of article fitting the above criteria for publication.
